TARGETING

Only resellers are interested in regularly looking at this site. They come either to create quotes for their customers (mainly account managers) or buyers looking to source the items. Subscribers use the site every day although there are a large number of infrequent reseller users who visit for hard to find items. There are 18,000+ resellers registered from pretty much all the resellers of hardware in the UK. We also have a strong contingent of online retailers that use the site to work out the best way to source the items that have been ordered from their web site and the EOS market has become very strong for us over the last few years as our service lends itself very well to comparing prices from a multitude of distributors stocking the same item.

Costs of advertising

PRICING & CREDITS

Credits are used to place advertising on Stock in the Channel and these can be purchased in blocks either online using a debit / credit card or by emailing a purchase order number and indicate how many credits you wish to purchase to:

advertising@stockinthechannel.com

Credits never go out of date and we encourage advertisers to purchase in blocks of 10 to get the best rate.

We don't bill per 1000 impressions but do display this on our site for comparison purposes.

Each ad runs for 30 days and the number of impressions that category receives determines the cost per 1000 illustrated.

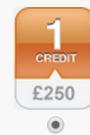

If several ads are in place on a single category the share of impressions your ad will receive is a percentage of the total credits assigned to that category equal to the share of total credits assigned.

CREDITS ARE PURCHASED IN BLOCKS ONLINE OR BY EMAILED PURCHASE ORDER

Generating a campaign

WHERE TO ADVERTISE

Targeting a category

Free text search is the primary method used by clients to locate products on our site.

The first product in a search result triggers the category ad that Stock in the Channel will display.

This allows you to display a category specific ad that is relevant to the product the client is searching for at that very moment.

Run of site

With literally hundreds of product categories within Stock in the Channel, many do not have specific ads in place.

This method of advertising fills the gaps and will display your ad whenever no category specific ad is in place.

This method will generate a greater number of views and is great for general awareness pieces but is less contextual.

MODERATION

When you create a new advert, before it goes live on our site it first needs to pass through moderation. We may call you if we feel the ad is assigned to the wrong category is inappropriate or contains an error.

STATS & CLICK RATES

Online advertising click rates vary dramatically but if you achieve over 0.2% of impressions converted to Clicks you are doing very well. A more realistic expectation is 0.1% of impressions.

Compared to traditional forms of advertising such as trade press, Stock in the Channel offers impressive return on investment.

It's also important to remember that people don't always click but they do see read and take in its content.

The more interesting and creative the banner the more clicks you are likely to receive. We also recommend changing the design from one campaign to the next so that users don't think they are looking at the same ad they read the day, week or month before.

To view your active Campaigns simply access the Advertising menu from the 'My Account' Page of your Stock in the Channel account.

HELP GETTING STARTED

Why do it alone?

Over 900 ads from 52 different advertisers have been displayed on Stock in the Channel since this module was added.

Most brands are aware of Stock in the Channel and are prepared to support Distributor activity on the site via marketing funds. Vendors and Distributors with a specific campaign in mind are welcome to contact us and provide details of your upcoming promotions and product releases. We can then produce a custom campaign plan detailing the recommended categories and positions for your banners and indicating the amount of traffic you are likely to receive.

Our self serve system is very user friendly and you will soon get used to it.

Until then why not let us talk you through the process the first time round. We are here to help and answer any questions you may have.

- To watch a short video that demonstrates the user interface please click here.

- If multiple ads are assigned to the same category (including "Run of Site") at the same time, the views/impressions are shared – relative to the number of credits assigned to each ad.
- Banner ads are more popular than Skyscrapers, this is worth noting for "Run of Site" where more than one campaign is usually running.
- You could be better off with a Skyscraper as you will likely receive a greater volume of views, having not had to share the impressions with other advertisers.
- At any given time we usually have between 12-20 Run of Site campaigns live, so your ad will not be shown all the time.
- Best click through levels are generated when the ad is interesting.
- Click through often starts out higher and reduce as the ad has been live for longer. This is because the same users are viewing the ad again so are less likely to click the second or third time they see your ad.
- Once your ad is live you can update the design and change the path for the click through as often as you like. This helps keep the ad interesting and encourages repeat clicks from the same users.
- Once your ad is live you cannot change the category it is assigned to.
- All new ads and any amendments to existing ads will go into moderation for us to check the suitability before turning them live on our system.
- For amendments to existing campaigns - The existing ad will continue to be displayed until the amendment is released from moderation.
- Stock in the Channel's advertising module is totally self-serve, however we are here to help and advise on the best placement for your campaign so please feel free to ask if you have questions or need any guidance.
